More Repairs

As time progresses, we are finding more repairs which need to be done on our parish grounds. With age, our pipe systems around the church and rectory begin to deteriorate and rust. The problem only becomes apparent with time, when ceilings collapse or the paint on the wall inflates with the collecting water.

We experienced this situation recently at our parish rectory. Scattered around are pictures of the walls that were ruined, the pipe that was rusted, and the repair of the area.

CAPITAL RENOVATION COLLECTION

I want to express my thanks to all who contribute to our Capital Improvements Collection for their generous and consistent donations. We are asked to contribute to so many worthy projects, but these funds are earmarked solely for our own parish. We budget for regular maintenance, but these funds are used for renovations and improvements. We have been given the gift of beautiful parish property and buildings and it is our responsibility to restore and improve them for generations to come!

The donations reported in today's bulletin are from October's Capital Improvement Collection.

PREPARING FOR THE NEW TRANSLATION OF THE MASS

Give it To Me Straight: The Liturgy of the Eucharist

In a previous article, we described some of the most significant characteristics of the English translation of the 3rd edition of the Roman Missal: more allusions to scripture; a more elevated, formal language; closer adherence to the sentence structure, syntax, and cadence of the Latin; and a broader vocabulary. Without a doubt, these characteristics will be most evident in the Liturgy of the Eucharist.

“And with your spirit”—a change in the new Roman Missal

The preface dialogue begins with the liturgical exchange we’ve already noted: “The Lord be with you / And with your spirit.” Then, after we have been invited to “give thanks to the Lord, our God,” the people will respond, “It is right and just.” This is a more concise translation of the Latin, and it creates an almost seamless transition into the rest of the Eucharistic Prayer, most of which follow with words such as “It is truly right and just, our duty and salvation...” (Eucharistic Prayer II)

Invitation to Prayer	Preface Dialogue
Priest: Pray, brethren ... acceptable to God, the almighty Father.	Priest: The Lord be with you.
People: May the Lord accept the sacrifice at your hands for the praise and glory of his name, for our good and the good of all his holy Church.	People: And with your spirit.
	Priest: Lift up your hearts.
	People: We lift them up to the Lord.
	Priest: Let us give thanks to the Lord our God.
	People: It is right and just.

There are two noticeable changes in the words of consecration in the new Roman Missal. Introducing the words of Christ, said over the wine, the priest will say, “...when supper was ended, he took the chalice...” Choosing the word chalice instead of cup emphasizes that this vessel is no ordinary cup. Indeed, it highlights the sacrificial character of this vessel which holds the Precious Blood of Jesus Christ, shed for us out of love.

The difference between “for all” and “for many”

The next difference is in the words of Christ at the consecration of the wine as the priest says, “Take this all of you and drink from it, for this is the chalice of my blood...which will be poured out for you and for many for the forgiveness of sins.” The change of “for all” to “for many” maintains the words of Christ as recorded in the Gospels of Matthew (26:28) and Mark (14:24), thus making the Scriptural allusion more obvious. At the same time, it does not change our Catholic understanding that Christ is the Savior of the whole world and that his sacrifice was made for all people (see John 6:51 and Catechism 606-623). This will be important as we catechize on the 3rd edition of the Missal.
